

Tribune Entertainment's "On Trial: Lee Harvey Oswald" has cleared more than 95% of the country. Hosted by Geraldo Rivera, the five-hour television trial will air Nov. 22 and Nov. 23, 25 years after President John F. Kennedy's assassination.

Experts and witnesses will be cross-examined during the mock trial of alleged Kennedy assassin Oswald, including Texas Gov. John Connally, who was shot by the same gunman while riding with Kennedy in the motorcade. The broadcast will conclude live from Dallas, with Rivera inviting viewers to call a 900 number to vote whether they believe Oswald was part of a conspiracy or acted alone.

The program is co-produced by Tribune Entertainment, London Weekend Television and The Investigative News Group. 135 stations have signed to air the event.
